THE TRAVEL CORPORATION ANNOUNCES RE-SCHEDULE POLICY FOR WEATHER-RELATED FLIGHT CANCELLATIONS IN DECEMBER

Passengers on Trafalgar, Brendan, Insight & Contiki Tours Subject to Flight Cancellations Dec. 20-31, 2010 Will be Able to Reschedule by Jan. 7 for Travel by March 31, 2011

Anaheim, CA – December 20, 2010 - The Travel Corporation announced today that, effective immediately, it has established the following re-schedule policy for those clients affected by weather-related flight cancellations on vacations to Europe in the next two weeks.

For passengers departing between Dec. 20 - 31, 2010 whose flight is cancelled, The Travel Corporation will allow them to re-book a winter/spring tour departing on/before March 31, 2011. The alternate vacation must be selected on or before Jan. 7, 2011. Passengers will be responsible for any land and/or air price increases for their new tour/date chosen. Clients both with and without The Travel Corporation's Travel Protection coverage will be able to reschedule per the aforementioned conditions.

Airlines may have routing and re-booking time restrictions so travel agent partners should contact relevant reservations call centers if air schedule has been booked by a Travel Corporation brand.

If the flight is NOT cancelled and clients choose not to travel, normal brochure cancellation policy will apply. The Travel Corporation Travel Protection coverage offers comprehensive benefits for weather delays and trip interruption. Clients are advised to refer to their travel documents for more details on the coverage or visit the website of the brand they have booked their travel with.

The Travel Corporation encourages passengers to check flight status online as airlines are updating the statuses frequently. And, for travelers with flights that are delayed by a few hours, we encourage them to take their vacation and enjoy the holidays.
